

Benny the Bear and the Busy Bee

One sunny morning, Benny the Bear sat on a log to rest his paws.

Buzz! Buzz! went a little bee flying by.

“Hello there!” Benny said kindly. “Where are you going in such a hurry?”

“I’m collecting honey for my friends,” the bee replied. “But I wanted to stop and say hi!”

Benny smiled. “It’s nice to take a break sometimes and enjoy the day.”

The bee buzzed happily around Benny’s head. “You’re right! Thank you for the reminder.”

They talked about flowers, clouds, and the warm sunshine until it was time for the bee to fly off again.

“Have a sweet day!” Benny called.

“And you too, Bear!” buzzed the bee as it zipped away.

From that day on, Benny and the busy bee always made time to stop and chat.
