

The Little Seed's Surprise

In a quiet little garden, tucked beneath the soft brown soil, lived a tiny seed named Pip.

Pip had been sleeping all winter long. One morning, something felt different.

Drip... drop... drip...

“Hello?” Pip whispered.

“It’s me,” said the rain. “Time to wake up!”

Soon after, warm sunshine peeked down and added,

“You’re ready, little seed. Grow!”

Pip felt warm and wiggly. With a tiny stretch and a big push... POP!

A little green sprout poked up out of the ground.

“Oh my!” Pip gasped. “The world is so bright!”

A gentle breeze danced by. “Welcome to spring!” it sang.

Each day, Pip grew taller and stronger. Leaves stretched wide, and one morning...

Bloom!

Pip had turned into a beautiful flower!

A butterfly fluttered close. “You’re lovely!” it said.

Pip smiled in the sunshine.

“I was just a tiny seed... and now look at me!”

And in the warm spring garden, Pip swayed happily, ready for new adventures.
