

The Symphony in the Sandbox

Scoop, pat, tap! Gabby was building a grand sandcastle when she noticed the sounds her tools were making.

The plastic shovel went swoosh, the bucket went thump, and the little rake went skritch-skritch. "Listen!" Gabby laughed. "We're making sandbox music!"

Soon, a little bluebird joined in, chirping a happy tune to match the beat. Who knew building a castle could sound so sweet?

